It is said that Rome was not built in a day, no empire or megalithic structure has been built within just a few hours. The journey of AumEx is something similar. AumEx was started with just a one room office in July 2011. With the exposure of working in MNCs, Mr Sharma realized that the biggest challenge faced by customers in this industry was the lack of transparency. Determined to make this as one of the core values of AumEx, he started building a company which will not only be delivering the package but also serve its clientele satisfaction. The visionary behind the superstructure, Mr Chandan Kumar Sharma, had the grit to build a trust which will change the way people perceive the courier industry.

Today AumEx has over 10 branches In East & North East India operating Pan India. AumEx thrives on service excellence and wants to grow manifold with the vision and mission of serving only the best.
